All Welcome

President♦♦♦(e)♦'s Message

January 2015

By Carol Jacques

The year 2014 seems to have flown by in a nanosecond. Happy New Year to all of you.

The Mount Washington Association (MWA) has invited Assembly Member Jimmy Gomez to install the 2015 officers and Board of Directors members at the January meeting of the MWA.

The meeting will take place on THURSDAY, January 22, at 7:30 PM, in the Jack and Denny Smith Community Center building of Mt. Washington Elementary School, at 3891 San Rafael Avenue.

Jimmy will discuss his legislative accomplishments and plans for the future. He has the distinct honor of being the incoming chairman of the Assembly Appropriations Committee. He will be accompanied by representatives of the Santa Monica Mountains Conservancy (Conservancy) and the Mountain Recreation and Conservation Authority (MRCA), public agencies of the state of California, that work in tandem to acquire, conserve, and preserve State open spaces and park lands. The Conservancy and the MRCA are the bodies charged with the management of Elyria Canyon, Rainbow Canyon, and Heidelberg Parks, located in Mt. Washington. Moon Canyon Park is administered by the City of Los Angeles.

There are a number of Mt. Washington members who only referred to the Conservancy when discussing our Mt. Washington parks. We used this expression because some of us had no idea that the MRCA existed. Conversely, others are experts in this area. In 1985, three pre-existing agencies, the Santa Monica Mountains Conservancy, the Conejo Recreation and Park District, and the Rancho Simi Recreation and Park District entered into a joint powers agreement which established the Mountain Recreation and Conservation Authority, a local partner of all three agencies. The MRCA is dedicated to the preservation and management of many State open spaces, park lands, and parks owned jointly by the Conservancy and by the MRCA. The MRCA provides educational and interpretive programs for the public. It also provides natural resources, scientific expertise, critical regional planning services, park construction, park operations, fire prevention, ranger services, and education and leadership programs for thousands of youth each year. It has also been one of the lead agencies providing leadership for the revitalization of the Los Angeles River. You can get copies of MRCA meeting agendas by calling James Yeramian at 310-589-3230.

At the January meeting of the MWA, the MRCA and the Conservancy will make brief presentations on their agencies. A question-and-answer session, with questions coming from MWA members, will follow. Mt. Washington residents are blessed to be living in an urban center surrounded by so many green spaces. The more MWA members learn about the administration of those green spaces, the more helpful members can be in preserving and protecting them.

Don't miss the very informative January meeting because we have also invited the Autry National Center to give us an update on the status of the Southwest Museum. The meeting will also feature our annual Brownie Contest managed by Connie Rohman. Bring your favorite brownies to share and you may win a prize. The Hospitality Committee has graciously offered to make hot cocoa for all who attend.

I want to thank Shelly Schraff and her family for the work she has been doing with the Northeast Los Angeles Homeless Coalition. Please bring canned and/or other food items, for the homeless, to the January meeting and Shelly will see to it that it is distributed to our local homeless folks.

Bike advocates stage a die-in on Councilman Cedillo

Bicycle advocates stage a die-in outside Councilmember Gil Cedillo's downtown condo complex. | Stephen Corwin

By NATHAN SOLIS

Let us add another chapter to the Figueroa bike lane saga. Frustrated bicycle advocates protested outside Councilman Gil Cedillo's downtown condominium complex on Sunday morning. The protest bike ride, dubbed "CHALE CON CEDILLO!", and die-in was in response to what the bicycle advocates call a lack of dialog from Cedillo, whose First Council District includes Highland Park, Cypress Park and several other neighborhoods. The die-in was meant to symbolize the heightened risk of injury and collisions cyclists face without a bike lane.

Surprised neighbors greeted the riders and watched as they milled about outside the condominium complex. Cedillo did not make an appearance, but his spokesman, Louis Reyes, said the council office has been inclusive in the process about the future of Figueroa.

It's the tyranny of the minority at this point, Reyes said of Sunday's demonstrators. We have listened to them and will continue to listen to them.

Last month, Cedillo introduced his plan to the City Council for diagonal street parking on Figueroa, a move that would eliminate room for bicycle lanes, according to cycling advocates. Cedillo's office refutes that contention, saying Figueroa bike lanes remain a possibility. Cedillo, meanwhile, has described the bike advocates who have challenged him as bullies who are a vocal minority.

We're tired of the lip service. We're not bullies, we're his constituents, said Eastside Bicycle Club founder Carlos Morales who participated in Sunday's ride and protest outside Cedillo's residence.

Approved in 2010, the Los Angeles Bicycle Plan allocated funds for 5.3 miles of bicycle lanes along Figueroa Street in Northeast L.A. But after Cedillo took office, he halted any alterations to the street and held several town hall meetings on the topic of road safety that bicycle advocates felt were a waste of time.

Cedillo is a Sacramento politician who now has to face his constituents, said Morales who mentioned that the councilman showed strong support for bicycle lanes when campaigning for office.

But bicycle lanes for Figueroa are still on the table, according to Reyes. The councilmember is diligently working to increase street safety for all residents, not just one segment, he said.

Nathan Solis is a Highland Park resident who writes about and photographs the L.A. music scene. You can find more of Solis stories, reviews and photos at Avenue Meander.

6 On the Agenda: Councilman Cedillo wants to give Highland Park car wash a try

On The Agenda

By NATHAN SOLIS

With a new year comes a new round of agenda items. On this week's agenda Council District 1's Gil Cedillo is seeking to bypass the rejection of a proposed Highland Park car wash by a local planning commission. Atwater Village has a number of proposed projects on their roster, while Lincoln Heights wants to discuss outreach for 2015.

Atwater Village

A number of projects are planned for Atwater Village in 2015, and the Environment and Land Use Committee would like to bring those projects to the public's attention. They are: a small lot development on Chevy Chase and Verdant; a proposed project on 3116-3124 West Larga Avenue involving the demolition of 2 existing dwelling units for three single-family residences with six parking spaces; a proposed 60-unit project at 3990 & 4000 Chevy Chase on 3.5-4 acres of land; a proposed 6 unit-project on three lots at 2914 Glenhurst Ave. Wednesday, January 7.

Highland Park

Councilmember Gil Cedillo, Council District 1, is flexing his political muscle on a project involving a proposed Figueroa Street car wash in Highland Park. The East L.A. Planning Commission back in November voted against a proposal to install a one-story, 496-square-foot automated car wash at the existing Shell gas station at 5137 N. Figueroa. But Cedillo has introduced a motion that, if approved by the City Council, would give the car wash project a second chance by allowing it to be presented to the Planning and Land Use Committee. Wednesday, January 7.

Lincoln Heights

Outreach committee meets in Lincoln Heights to discuss strategic planning for 2015, including future community cleanups, Easter Egg Hunt locations and other outreach issues. Monday, January 5.

HUIZAR NAMED 2014 ELECTED OFFICIAL OF THE YEAR

Councilmember Huizar has been named the 2014 Streetsie Elected Official of the Year award winner by StreetsBlog LA for his commitment to bold and transformative initiatives that are improving thoroughfares and communities throughout Council District 14 and the City of Los Angeles.

From his work on parklets, green buffered bike lanes and plazas, to Bringing Broadway Back, bike corrals, and emphasizing pedestrian, bike and public green space on the new Sixth Street Bridge, this award serves as a recognition of Councilmember Huizar♦♦♦(e)♦♦♦s ongoing efforts to work with neighborhood leaders and organizations to support community building through safer, pedestrian, bike and business-friendly policies.

SIERRA CLUB ENDORSES COUNCILMEMBER HUIZAR

Huizar's years of fighting for environmental justice, green space, recycling, clean energy and multi-modal transportation policy garners support from nation's top grassroots environmental group. In an early move to solidify support for one of the Los Angeles City Council's environmental stalwarts, the Sierra Club announced today its endorsement of incumbent José Huizar for re-election in Council District 14. Huizar has a diverse constituency that he has consistently fought to protect against polluters. He is also one of the City's leaders in creating new parks, green space, as well as increasing recycling and pedestrian, bike and public transportation options throughout the City.

Councilmember Huizar continues to fight for environmental justice in communities plagued by air pollution, exposure to hazardous waste, and lack of resources, said Howard Strauss, Chair of the Sierra Club's Angeles Chapter political committee.

José Huizar understands the importance of affirming the rights of all workers to a safe and healthy work environment and the rights of all communities to be free from environmental hazards.

Huizar's notable environmental record includes protecting the Boyle Heights community through his opposition to the proposed power plant in Vernon, and his fight to clean up the polluting Exide Technologies facility. He has also joined with leading Eagle Rock organizations in their opposition to expansion plans at the Scholl Canyon landfill. Huizar also opposes plans to expand the 710 Freeway through El Sereno or Northeast L.A.

I am honored by the Sierra Club's endorsement and its reflection on the work we've done to defend our communities from polluters, to bring green space to underserved areas, and to bring new policies that are making Council District 14, and the City of Los Angeles, a cleaner, greener district, said Councilmember Huizar. I vow to continue to protect our communities and to give residents the quality of life they deserve. I am honored that the Sierra Club has endorsed me to continue to fulfill that mission.

Huizar helped lead the push for a reduction in the city's reliance on fossil fuels and promoting solar and wind energy, allowing the City to transition to a clean energy future. As former chair of the Council's Energy & Environment Committee, he helped push for the plastic bag ban and increased recycling for commercial and apartment buildings. He is widely recognized as the City Council's leading proponent for increasing alternative transportation, greening of streets and sidewalks and pedestrian and bike-friendly infrastructure. Huizar also helped preserve open space at Ascot Hills Park and Elephant Hill in El Sereno and developed additional park space in Downtown Los Angeles and Highland Park.

Huizar was honored in 2013 by the Sierra Club Angeles Chapter as its Political Leader of the Year.

The Sierra Club was proud to recognize Councilmember José Huizar as an environmental champion at its political awards for being a strong and consistent partner in stewardship of his district and the City, said Susana Reyes, Sierra Club Board of Directors.

Founded in 1892 by John Muir, the Sierra Club is the oldest, largest, and most influential grassroots environmental organizations in the nation. The Angeles Chapter has 40,000 members and supporters and covers the L.A. and Orange counties.
